SPIRIT ANIMAL

ABOUT THE SERIES

The Spirit Animal painting series is a visual journey into primal intuition, where the boundaries between humans and nature dissolve. Each painting is an encounter with an inner guide—a spirit animal that has accompanied us for centuries in dreams, rituals, and folklore. The canvases pulse with the energy of ancient totems, merging wildness and delicacy in a single breath.

COLIBRI "THE EYES OF INFINITY"

The hummingbird reminds us to live with an open mind to magic. Looking like a rainbow in motion, it draws attention to the power that comes from traveling at its own pace. Though tiny, the hummingbird plays an important role in the ecosystem. By visiting thousands of flowers daily, it supports the pollination process, which is essential for the survival of many plant species. It can hover in the air, fly forward, backward, and even upside down. It is a symbol of constant motion, great power, and at the same time, delicacy. We can joyfully and effectively FLY through the world. Let's do it!

“THE TIGER LIFESTYLE”

Symbolizes strength, courage, independence, and intuition. It is an animal that represents the balance between light and shadow, inner power, and mysticism. In Eastern culture, the white tiger is regarded as a guardian, symbolizing both protection and wisdom.

As a spirit animal, the white tiger helps break through limitations, overcome fear, and face challenges with confidence. It is a guide that leads through difficult moments in life, reminding us of our inner strength and ability to take action.

“UROBOROS”

Ouroboros, the symbol of the serpent eating its own tail, invites reflection on the idea that the moment is both an end and a beginning. In the context of the spirit animal, this symbol represents the cyclical nature of life, transformation, and eternal renewal. As a Spirit Animal, Ouroboros reminds us of the harmony that can be found in this never-ending spiral, where every change is part of a larger, unbroken cycle.

“THE WOLF”

The wolf calls for trust and inner guidance, encouraging you to reflect on how much you live in harmony with your wild nature versus the expectations of others. It reminds us of the balance between solitude and life within the pack, drawing strength from both. The wolf teaches courage, resilience, and strength in the face of adversity. Wolves fiercely protect their family, which is their highest value. If you truly want to know yourself, it is worth listening to the deep wisdom of the wolf—especially when it comes to you as a Spirit Animal at a significant moment in your life.

“THE HAWK”

The hawk symbolizes the connection with the energy of the Source and inspires it.

It is a reminder to sharpen all your senses, including the sixth, or inner voice, intuition.

As an animal spirit guide, it wants you to notice that all things are connected.

When this spiritual totem comes into your life, you can more easily touch your spiritual kingdom! Enjoy a stable connection with the Source Force and clearly understand messages, visions, situations, to create and trust your own vision of life.

The hawk reminds us that every action has consequences. What you do today determines the direction of your life. If you are smiling to small things today, tomorrow you will have more reasons to smile.

“THE WEASEL”

The weasel in the woman's hand on the painting is a unique guide and a spirit animal. Like a mirror, it allows one to see their true reflection, answering the question: who are you, and why does your life look the way it does? Its message is clear: there is no effect without a cause—our thoughts, words, and decisions shape reality.

Accompanying it is the Psilocybe semilanceata—the only hallucinogenic mushroom that cannot be cultivated in mycelium and occurs exclusively in its natural environment.
